D.C. Board of Education Ad Hoc Committee on Special Education Announces a Public Hearing on Special Education Reform Recommendations

August 12, 2005 from 3:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.
5th Floor Board Room
825 North Capitol Street, NE
Washington, DC 20002

The D.C. Board of Education, Ad Hoc Committee on Special Education, will hold a public hearing on the preliminary special education reform recommendations under consideration of the Ad Hoc Committee on Special Education.

The D.C. Board of Education established the Ad Hoc Committee on Special Education to produce a report that examines the effectiveness and impact of the school system policies on the delivery of special education programs and services to special education students and their parents and recommends policies to ensure that programs meet federal requirements and improve the delivery of special education services.

The purpose of the Public Hearing is to solicit public comments on the preliminary special education reform recommendations and strategies to improve special education services within the District of Columbia Public Schools to be presented to the full Board and the Superintendent.

The preliminary recommendations are:

- Inform parents that students who are retained may be referred for assessment and consideration of special education services.
- The school psychologist should be recognized as a qualified examiner to identify students with an emotional disability, mental retardation, or other health impairment.
- District of Columbia Public Schools Parent's Counsel should provide proof of representation along with their hearing requests.
- Create a communications process to address trust and hostility issues between parents and school personnel.

- Develop a program for including parents and nonprofit advocacy groups in the periodic review of the mediation process and the attainment of performance goals.
- Develop and implement early intervention programs and strategies in all schools.
- Work with other agencies to provide school based supports such as mental health.
- Strengthen the formalized intake system and establish pilot programs for Early Dispute Resolution.
- Establish that a student remains eligible for special education services even though the student has earned a GED.
- Develop an accountability plan, which holds principals and related service providers accountable for service delivery objectives and include performance measures
- Develop a budget plan and determine the fiscal impact of complying with settlements and Hearing Officer decisions and request appropriate funding in the uniform per pupil student funding formula or state level funding.
- Authorize DCPS to certify private schools serving DCPS students with disabilities.
- Authorize DCPS to set rates for private schools serving DCPS students with disabilities.

The Ad Hoc Committee on Special Education extends an invitation to the public to testify at the Special Education Hearing. Those who wish to testify should contact Ms. Chonya Davis-Johnson at (202) 442-5444 by the close of business, August 10, 2005. Witnesses should bring 10 copies of their written testimony to the Public Hearing. Public testimony will be limited to a maximum of five (5) minutes for oral presentations.

If you are unable to testify at the Public Hearing, written statements are encouraged and will be part of the official record. Copies of written statements should be submitted to Mr. Russell Smith, Executive Director to the DC Board of Education, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, DC 20002.
